

Staci Ponelis

Digital Design Student

Career:

I am currently a third-year student at Vega, Durban, studying Digital Design. Due to previous school and sport commitments, I have not worked before and I would love the opportunity to do some freelance work. I am hoping to learn new skills not only in the design field, but also in the branding and strategy areas or whatever else comes my way. I am open to new challenges and love to take risks. I am aiming to gain experience from the working industry which will in turn provide me insight for my degree and for the near future. I am highly motivated and would love to take a step further.
